In Brief
Macmillan On Way To Bermuda

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Macmillan took off for Bermuda early Wednesday for two days of talks with President Kennedy that may lead to new top level encounters with Nikita Khrushchev.

There was some last minute speculation that the talks might be postponed when reports reached London that President Kennedy was flying from Washington to the bedside of his father, Joseph P. Kennedy, who suffered a stroke in Palm Beach, Fla.

But government informants in London said the Bermuda talks would begin Thursday morning despite the illness of the President's father. The decision was reached after the telephone conversations between the British government offices and the White House in Washington.

Seven Killed
In Plane Crash

KANSAS CITY (AP) — A four-engine cargo plane from Richards-Gebaur Air Force Base crashed Tuesday about 200 yards south of the base, and all seven aboard were killed.

The plane, attached to the 442nd Troop Carrier Wing, had just taken off for a flight to Charleston, S.C., and was attempting to return to the field when engine trouble developed.

Witnesses said it dived almost vertically into marshy ground. There was no fire.

Monkey Missile
Launched Tues.

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — A four-pound rhesus monkey with a radio transmitter and medical sensors implanted in its body rocketed skyward Tuesday night aboard an Atlas missile.

The Atlas blazed away from the Cape at 10:32 p.m. (EST) with the monkey strapped securely in a cylinder attached to the side. The six-foot-tall package was to eject when the Atlas engines burned out about five minutes after launching.

Then it was to follow a ballistic trajectory much like the Atlas nose cone, reaching an altitude of about 600 miles before plunging back to earth for a landing in the South Atlantic Ocean more than 6,000 miles down range.

Says UN Halted
Reds In Congo

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Undersecretary of State George W. Ball said Tuesday the United Nations prevented Soviet domination of the Congo and an armed confrontation of the United States and the Soviet Union in the heart of Africa.

"The Congo faced full-scale anarchy, civil war and the inevitable consequences of great power intervention. It was moving rapidly down a slippery slope toward chaos — and dragging the great powers dangerously close to war," Ball said in a speech prepared for a town hall meeting.

Army Pamphlet
Issued Reservists

WASHINGTON (AP) — That question asked by some called-up National Guardsmen and reservists — "why me?" — has brought 14 answers from Army headquarters.

The Army said Tuesday it is sending out a pamphlet to all the 119,000 men who have been brought into active duty, designed to reply to "questions most frequently asked" since the men started reporting last October.

The 11-page folder is a condensation of 14 "most frequently asked" questions — and the answers — and is issued under the title, "Why Me?"

Blue Jeans Stop
Benefit Checks

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — A Nashville woman, dropped from unemployment compensation rolls because she wore blue jeans to claim her check, will receive the remainder of her jobless benefits, starting in about two weeks.

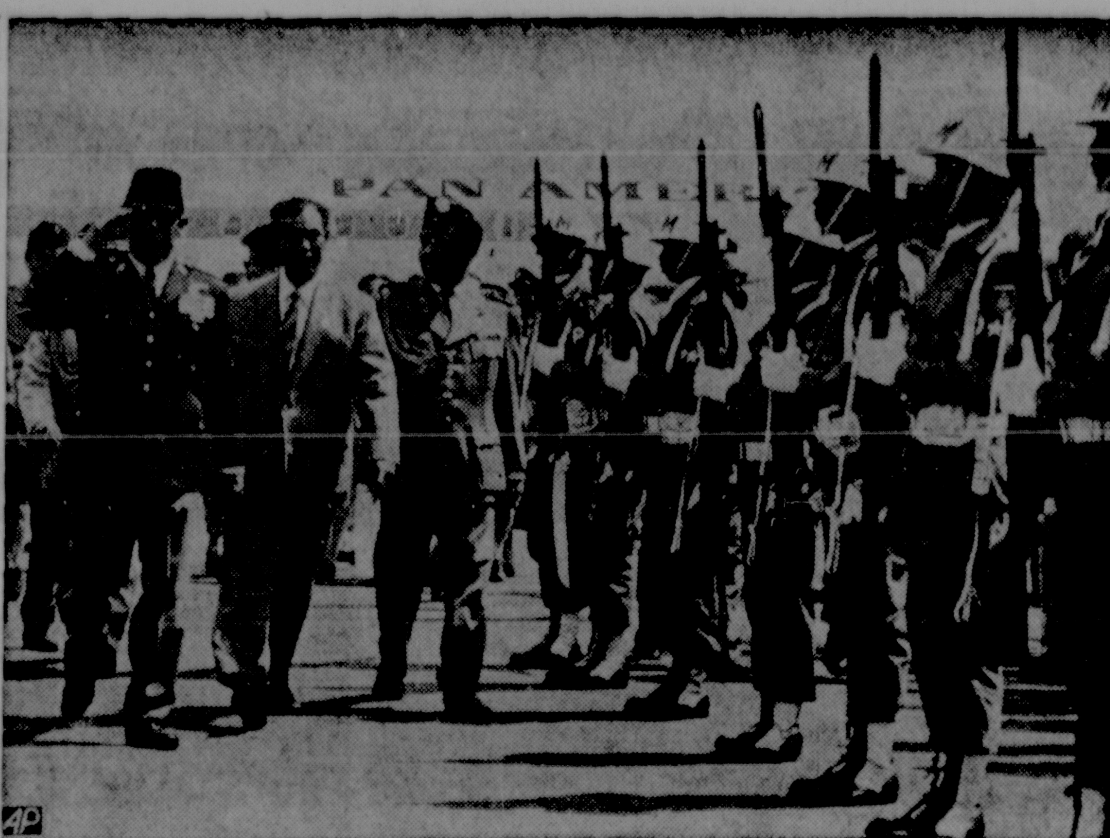

Mrs. Mary Bell Turner, a laid-off packing plant worker and mother of four children, will miss the $26 payment she had anticipated before Christmas, however.

She was informed Monday that the blue jeans she wore to claim her weekly check failed to meet requirements that claimants must be "suitably attired."

Riots Break Out
In Paris Streets

PARIS (AP) — Riot police lashed out with night sticks and rifle bullets Tuesday night to break up a noisy protest demonstration against the right-wing secret army organization. Demonstrators fought back with paving stones.

Unofficial reports said about 100 demonstrators were injured, most of them about the head. Hospital care was required for about 35 of the injured. About 34 policemen also were hurt.

SUKARNO AND HIS FIGHTING MEN — This was the martial scene at Jakarta's airport in November when Indonesia's President Sukarno saluted troops on hand to welcome him home after he underwent surgery in Vienna. Sukarno had Indonesia's armed forces alerted to be prepared to invade Dutch West Guinea, last main Netherlands territory in what once was a widespread colonial empire in Southeast Asia. JFK's Father Suffers Stroke;
Bermuda Plans Unchanged

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — President Kennedy completed Tuesday night an emergency flight from Washington to join the watch at the bedside of his father, Joseph P. Kennedy, who suffered a stroke.

But there was discouraging news awaiting him on arrival at St. Mary's Hospital where the 73-year-old Joseph P. Kennedy was lying.

The doctors had told Kennedy by telephone, while his plane was warming up on the fog-shrouded runway waiting to take off from Washington, that they had to operate immediately.

When he got here after a two-hour jet flight from Washington, the physicians told the President they had decided against an operation. And this was taken as an ominous sign.

The official word was that extensive tests had been made to determine the location of a blood clot. If it had been outside the cranium, there would have been an operation for its removal. If it were inside — and it was — there would be no operation. The implication was that surgery would be unsuccessful.

The President was in the hospital for 45 minutes, then went to the little white chapel on the grounds for prayer.

White House secretary Pierre Salinger said: "The doctors say that prognosis will not be known for 24 to 48 hours. His condition is described as serious."

Kennedy made a rush return trip to West Palm Beach less than a dozen hours after his father had waved him cheerily on the way to Washington Tuesday morning. Shortly afterward, the elder Mr. Kennedy suffered a stroke after six holes of golf in Palm Beach.

Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy traveled with the President from Washington. So did their sister, Eunice, wife of Peace Corps Director R. Sargent Shriver.

The former ambassador's wife, Rose, was at her husband's side. Plans for President Kennedy's Bermuda conference with British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, starting Thursday, remained unchanged. The White House in Washington released a schedule listing four formal conferences between the two leaders Thursday and Friday.

The President's plane took off from Andrews Air Force Base, just outside the capital, at 5:42 p.m. Mrs. Jean Kennedy Smith, a sister, flew with them.

Ironically, only Tuesday morning, when the elder Kennedy was at the airport to see the President off, the worry was over his son's health.

President Kennedy had picked up a cold on his trip to South America over the weekend, and had stopped off in Palm Beach for a day on his return trip to the capital.

The elder Kennedy apparently felt fine. He had played with his grandchildren and then had gone out to play golf. He quit after six holes — one report was that he had collapsed.

New School
District Plan
To Be Issued

HARRISBURG (AP) — Compulsory school reorganization moved smoothly through its second phase Tuesday and was handed over to the state's 67 counties for further action.

The State Council of Education completed its assigned task of drawing up standards for county school boards to follow in the difficult task of combining small districts into larger districts.

The counties have until Jan. 1, 1963, to complete the job. If they don't, the State Department of Public Instruction, by law, will do it for them.

The department plans to issue sometime next month a guide for the counties to follow in drawing up their new district lines. The standards adopted by the council, as recommended by a special committee appointed by the council, were admittedly broad. They amounted to statements of principle rather than specific guidelines.

John D. Killian, deputy attorney general assigned to the Department of Public Instruction, and Dr. O. H. English of the council, who were on the special committee, said it was found that it would be impractical to spell out the details because any standard would have to include a long list of exceptions to allow for variations from area to area in the state.

May Yet Be Negotiated

Indonesia Delays Invasion Of New Guinea

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — President Sukarno's delay of a D-Day for the military invasion of Dutch West New Guinea raised hopes Tuesday that Indonesia's demands might yet be settled by negotiation.

The president in a rally at Jogjakarta in Java ordered the "total mobilization" of Indonesia's 93 million people, and told the armed forces to be ready "at any time from now on" to seize the Dutch-held territory of rugged mountains jungles and primitive peoples.

Any invasion, however, would call for a difficult seaborne operation over about 600 miles of water against Dutch naval forces. Some Indonesian officials had expected him to announce an immediate invasion. His failure to set a time limit was believed by observers to mean he is giving the Netherlands government an opportunity to negotiate.

Some Indonesian officials still felt the Dutch might agree to negotiations outside the United Nations and that there might yet be a peaceful settlement of the dispute over Dutch New Guinea — the western half of the island which Indonesians call West Irian and which a Dutch-sponsored legislative council recently renamed West Papua.

The Netherlands government announced at The Hague that it is willing to negotiate. It suggested that a 17-member U.N. committee yet to be set up to implement a resolution on liquidating colonialism, might organize the talks. Sukarno's action, the Dutch said, could only endanger attempts to reach a peaceful solution.

The British Foreign Office said it is pressing Sukarno to avoid force and is consulting with the United States, France, Australia, the Netherlands and other interested governments.

In Washington, State Department officials conferred separately with Dutch and Indonesian diplomats. President Kennedy has urged both countries to seek an amicable solution.

Three months ago, Indonesia indignantly rejected a Dutch plan for the United Nations to take responsibility for preparing West New Guinea for early self-determination.

In his Jogjakarta address, Sukarno charged the Netherlands plan for a transition of New Guinea to a self-governing territory was an attempt to dodge the issue of transferring it to Indonesia.

The Indonesians base their claim to the fact that West New Guinea formerly was administered by the colonial government of the Dutch East Indies.

The Dutch, when they recognized Indonesian independence Dec. 27, 1949, reserved West New Guinea for future discussion. The Dutch contend that the territory was part of the Dutch East Indies only for administrative purposes, and that the 700,000 Papuans in West New Guinea are different ethnically from Indonesians.

The eastern part of the island — second largest in the world — is governed by Australia.

Nehru Claims Complete Victory As Portuguese Enclaves Recapitulate

Says Western Nations Were
Obviously Ignorant Of Facts

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Bolstered by victory at arms, Prime Minister Nehru said Tuesday the swift collapse of Portuguese Goa, Damao and Diu in a lightning war with few casualties proved India's invasion was right.

"The colonial administration had cracked up and the people wanted and welcomed India," Nehru told reporters.

The prime minister said critics of India in the United Nations — where a Soviet veto had blocked a Western resolution calling on India to pull back — were "obviously ignorant of the facts now as well as in the last dozen years or more."

Foreign Secretary M. J. Desai said the policy will be to repatriate prisoners as soon as possible to wind up the operation. Then, he said, India hopes to return to normal relations with Portugal.

The Defense Ministry said 2,000 Portuguese had surrendered by nightfall. It reported only eight dead on the Indian side and said all available information indicates the Portuguese casualties are also small.

Complete victory was claimed by a Defense Ministry spokesman 36 hours after Indian troops, tanks, bombers and warships launched their attacks on Goa, Damao and Diu at midnight Sunday.

This claim was challenged in Ministry announced receipt of an amateur radio message from Goa, Lisbon. Portugal's Information several hours later declaring heavy fighting persisted at Nova Goa, the capital, and the nearby port of Mormugao.

Goa's governor-general, Manuel Antonio Vassallo e Silva, had said Monday the Portuguese defenders will resist to the end.

But the end, even then, seemed only a matter of time for the three territories — totaling 1,537 square miles and about 650,000 people — that had been under Portugal's flag for 4½ centuries.

An Indian Defense Ministry spokesman said the only pocket of resistance was around the heavily mined harbor of Mormugao.

Soon after a Soviet veto killed a Western resolution in the U.N. Security Council in New York calling on India to pull back, the ministry issued this communique: "The (Nova Goa), capital of Goa, surrendered to our troops at 6 this morning. The garrison at Damao surrendered at 8:20 a.m. and Diu at 11:10 a.m."

"The Portuguese colonial administration had already collapsed when Indian armed forces entered the Portuguese-occupied territories yesterday. Now even the last vestiges of their colonial administration have disappeared," it said.

A report from Belgaum, the Indian command center on the Goan front 200 miles south of Bombay, said the invasion commander, Lt. Gen. J. N. Chaudhury, raised India's saffron, white and green flag in Nova Goa about 9 a.m.

Maj. Gen. Kenneth P. Candeth, commander of the infantry that invaded Goa, was appointed governor-general.

There was no information here as to what had become of Silva. Defense Minister V. K. Krishna Menon took off for New York to participate in any further U.N. discussion of the invasion. He was assured support by both Communists and nationalists. Western spokesmen backed Portugal's description of the attack as aggression.

The government's all-India radio played up approving comment from African-Asian nations and virtually ignored foreign criticism.

OFF FOR UNITY TALKS — Katanga President Moise Tshombe, left, and Edmond A. Prospects For Peace Slight
As Congo Talks Are Set Up

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — President Moise Tshombe of secessionist Katanga and Congo Premier Cyrille Adoula met Tuesday for the preliminaries of a bargaining conference called in the hope of ending strife in the Congo.

The talks, at the guarded U.N. military base of Kitona on the lower Congo River, were set up by American and U.N. officials in the hope of resolving a power struggle that has torn the Congo apart almost from the first day of independence nearly 18 months ago.

Prospects of success were dim. As the first meeting took place there was a new flareup of shooting in Elisabethville, the Katanga capital where U.N. troops are under orders to hold their fire.

The U.N. announced that its troops were compelled by sniping from civilians and mercenaries to continue mopping up operations, and finally occupied the offices and installations of the big Belgian mining company, Union Miniere du Haut Katanga in central Elisabethville. Three U.N. Ethiopian soldiers were wounded.

A big slag heap used as a machine gun base was one of the objectives taken, the U.N. said.

The U.N. force was under orders to hold back fire as long as the direct Tshombe-Adoula talks seemed to have any chance of success.

In his last words before leaving Leopoldville for the meeting, however, Adoula warned that no reconciliation will be possible unless Tshombe gives up his "rebellion."

Tshombe, on the other hand, has given no indication that he is ready to back down, even though U.N. forces have taken virtually complete control of his capital.

Tshombe was escorted by U.S. Ambassador Edmund A. Gullion in America's one-time presidential plane the "Columbine." Gullion was acting as President Kennedy's personal representative in getting the two leaders together.

Adoula arrived 88 minutes later, in a DC-6 escorted by U.N. Undersecretary Ralph Bunche and a team of U.N. negotiators versed in the complexities of Congolese politics.

The men lunched separately with their staffs. Tshombe, who had driven from his capital to meet Gullion in Ndola, Northern Rhodesia, went off for a nap.

"He was exhausted," said one official.

Go-between arranged only a procedural meeting of Tshombe and Adoula to decide on such matters as agenda and methods of tackling the thorny issues. Aides set up a schedule for the serious talks, likely to start Wednesday.

Adoula said he hoped the talks would wind up by Wednesday night.

The plan was for Bunche and the U.N. negotiators to participate only if invited. Bunche's tactics were to get the two men into talks without sealed off from the world, without the temptation of making statements to the press.

He ruled that reporters should be kept far away from the meeting room. U.N. Nigerian guards erected a security cordon around the base.

Stevenson Scores UN Security
Council On Failure In Crisis

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Adlai E. Stevenson consulted privately with other delegates Tuesday on the over-all problem of strengthening the U.N.'s peace-keeping machinery in the wake of the Security Council's failure to act in the Indian-Portuguese fighting over Goa.

Gloomy Western delegates saw no immediate move such as reviving the issue in the council or tossing it into the General Assembly.

But there was speculation that the U.S. chief delegate might go before the assembly to demand that it undertake an urgent examination of how it can deal with resort to force by newly independent countries claiming justification on the grounds they are opposing colonialism.

Many U.N. diplomats said the next crisis of this nature may erupt soon over Netherlands New Guinea. They feared that Indonesian President Achmed Sukarno would order his troops to seize the Dutch-ruled area long claimed by Indonesia.

In a dramatic moment in the council chamber early Tuesday Stevenson predicted that the United Nations would go the way of the old League of Nations if it is unable to prevent use of force to settle international disputes.

Speaking after the Soviet Union's 99th veto killed a resolution seeking a cease-fire and Indian troop withdrawal, Stevenson said "we are witnessing the first act in a drama" that could end in the death of the United Nations.

"My government will have more to say about this at an appropriate occasion."

Local Group Seeks Financial Aid To Reopen Shoe Factory

AN ATTEMPT will be made later this month to revitalize an industry that was lost to Monroe County this month, by an appeal to state agencies to render financial assistance for the project.

As the result of a meeting held at the Penn-Stroud Hotel, Stroudsburg, yesterday by an interested group of area businessmen and labor representatives, a delegation will appear in Harrisburg on December 27 before the Pennsylvania Industrial Development Authority and the Federal Area Redevelopment Authority to determine if something can be done to obtain employment locally for approximately 150 people who were formerly employed by the Pocono Shoe Company, Stroudsburg, which went out of business the first of December.

The group, which met as the result of a request of Monroe County Representative Van D.

Yetter, consists of Julius DeVoos, Stroudsburg, former manager of Pocono Shoe; Benjamin Seligman, New York, counsel for Mr. DeVoos; Paul Tesoro, international representative of the Boot and Shoe Workers Union; John Wickham, attorney for the union; Samuel Sackman, regional director of the State Board of Mediation Conciliation, Department of Labor; Robert Davenport, representing the Monroe Security Bank and Trust Co., Stroudsburg; John Dougherty, Bureau of Employment Security, Stroudsburg; Montgomery F. Crowe, president of Pocono Mountains Industry, Inc., and Representative Yetter.

It is the hope of the group to succeed in re-opening a shoe manufacturing industry in this area to give employment to approximately the same number of persons employed by the former Pocono Shoe Co. plant.

Flu Epidemic At Lewisburg
Lowers Blood Bank Supply

MONROE County Chapter of American Red Cross faces a blood shortage as a result of an illness which struck Eastern Penitentiary at Lewisburg this week.

The blood bank, administered and sponsored by the area ARC, hit a low yesterday and forced a curfew of the unlimited quota to Monroe County General Hospital.

Allen Keiper, local AR Red Cross official, said it was just fate that forced the pinch in the Blood Bank. "Usually, he said, inmates at the Federal penitentiary at Lewisburg take up the slack during this period. But a flu epidemic hit the prisoners' quarters and canceled out blood donations at this time.

The result — A special drive for blood will be held by the Monroe Chapter of American Red Cross, Dec. 27 at the Stroudsburg Presbyterian Church. The time scheduled for donations of the "Precious stuff" is 10:45 a.m. to 4:45 p.m.

Keiper stressed the dire need for blood. "It's a shame to have to ration the hospital but that is the repercussion when the bank goes so low," he said.

"Monroe rates high on the priority list for blood in the state," Keiper noted. "But to keep this Number Three rating we have to replenish the bank. Especially since the usual pickup from the prisoners will not be available this year," he said.

Keiper hoped that college students home for the Christmas holidays will swell the number of donors at the Dec. 27th drive for blood.

"What better Yuletide spirit could be shown than offering a pint of blood to a such a cause at such an opportune time," Keiper concluded.

Plane Crashes Into Crowd:
Kills 30 Viewing Motorcade

SEVILLA, Spain (AP) — The chartered plane of a photographer flying to record Sevilla's reception of a motorcade bearing $250,000 worth of flood relief supplies hit 60,000-volt cables Tuesday and plunged into a crowd of hundreds.

Hospital and other sources said 30 persons were killed and 120 injured seriously, some by electrocution from the broken cables.

The pilot and co-pilot were among the dead.

The photographer, a Spaniard working for a Madrid magazine, jumped before the plane hit the ground and was hospitalized with serious injuries.

People of this ancient Andalusian city had lined a highway on the outskirts to cheer the arrival from Madrid of food, clothing, toys and other supplies for Sevilla victims of a Tamarguillo River flood Nov. 25-26.

The crash of the plane, a single-engine craft, turned the throng from joy to tears. Children of working families beset by the flood were among the dead.

The injured were rushed to Sevilla hospitals and clinics.

Appeals were made by radio for blood donors.

The Sevilla Province government expressed deep regret at the accident and canceled all ceremonies for welcoming the motorcade.

Feeler Out For Palmer

AMONG the trial balloons now going up in Monroe County from Democratic party leaders for possible gubernatorial candidates in the Spring primaries is one for Judge Clinton Budd Palmer, Judge of the Court of Common Pleas in Northampton Co.

Born in Easton and educated in the Easton schools, Judge Palmer has served as Assistant U. S. Attorney in Philadelphia, and District Attorney in Northampton County. While serving as district attorney, he was appointed to the bench in 1956, and in 1958 was elected Judge of the Court of Common Pleas after a contested primary and general election.

Letter To Yetter

He was graduated from Swarthmore College in 1937 and the University of Pennsylvania Law School in 1940. During World War II, he saw combat service as a lieutenant commander in the Navy.

In a letter to Monroe County Representative Van D. Yetter, James F. Prendergast, member of the House of Representatives from Northampton County, endorses Judge Palmer as "a very intelligent, personable individual, who is married to the daughter of a former Judge of our Northampton County Courts; he is also an excellent speaker and a real campaigner".

Resolutions Adopted By Bangor Group

BANGOR — The Bangor Borough Sewer Authority at its regular session adopted two resolutions in an effort to secure Federal and state aid for the Bangor sewer construction project.

Ray Young, chairman who conducted last night's meeting, stated that it was doubtful if any Federal aid would be available to Bangor at this time.

He further stated that, if feasible, Bangor probably would be able to secure some $6,000 per year state money.

M. A. Evans, chief construction engineer of Mast Engineering Co., informed the authorities that the treatment plant is more than 99 per cent complete.

He also said the collection system is installed except for two city blocks.

Probe Death Of Pike County Man

A PIKE County man who lived alone died Tuesday morning in St. Francis Hospital, Port Jervis, N.Y., shortly after he was found unconscious on the floor of his small home.

The victim was William A. Karabinus, 62, of Dingmans Ferry, whose death is being investigated by state police.

Authorities said the victim was discovered unconscious by an unidentified friend who forced his way in after receiving no answer to his repeated knocks on the door. At the time three gas jets were found burning on the victim's kitchen range, an indication that so much oxygen had been consumed from the air that Mr. Karabinus may have died from carbon monoxide poisoning. Police said he also may have taken an overdose of barbiturates.

Biggest Ornament?
WELLSBORO, Pa. (AP)—This northern Pennsylvania mountain town claims to have the world's biggest Christmas tree ornament—a gigantic chandelier hanging over Main St.

The chandelier idea originated with Wellsboro's lively chamber of commerce, which put up some of the funds for materials to construct the ornament.

The ornament is 12 feet high and 8 feet in diameter. Basically, it is made of aluminum. It includes 200 feet of weather-coated silver garlands; with 2½-foot silver candles; Christmas tree ornaments and twinkling lights.

The chandelier was designed by three community men and constructed by Ellsworth Brown, Wellsboro, with the assistance of Christmas tree experts from the town's plant of the Corning Glass Co.

The community of some 5,000 persons has expressed so much enthusiasm over the chandelier, that three more are planned for future Christmases—one each for the town's main intersections.

Bad Weather Stops Hunters
HARRISBURG (AP)—Unfavorable weather conditions considerably reduced the number of hunters taking part in the one-day antlerless deer season, the Game commission reported yesterday.

Although the number of antlerless licenses was reduced less than 10 per cent from the 1960 season, the number of hunters in the field dropped 20 to 30 per cent of last year's total.

Final figures on the kill will not be available until all reports are in, the department said. Rain, fog and poor visibility were reported over all of Pennsylvania Monday. In addition, icy conditions affected auto driving and foot travel, except in southwestern counties.

Early reports indicated one hunter was killed, of self-inflicted wounds, and seven others were injured.

Major Medical Plan Offered To '50' Units

NORTHEASTERN Pennsylvania employee groups of 50 or more Blue Cross and Blue Shield members are being notified that a "Major Medical" program is now being offered.

Hospital Service Association of Northeastern Pennsylvania's Board of Directors, meeting recently in their monthly session, reviewed the mechanics of the program which they, as well as the State Insurance Department, have approved for immediate availability to groups of 50 or more, under a common employer, with employer participation or payroll deduction for payment of dues.

President George T. Bell stated that extension of the program to smaller groups, or possibly to non-group members, at a later date is predicted on the compiling of detailed experience through groups of sufficient size to present a "safe" margin of risk.

The Blue Cross and Blue Shield "Major Medical" program, briefly, is designed to cover expenses resulting from extra-long, extra-costly illnesses, supplementing basic Blue Cross and Blue Shield benefits when these have been used up, as well as providing additional items not included in basic benefits. It is pointed out that one important factor in the additional coverage is that services are available in the home and in the doctor's office, as well as in the hospital.

Some of these additional services include: home and office doctor's visits; private registered nurse services; ambulance service, etc.

The program embodies deductible and co-insurance features, as well as a maximum lifetime liability which features a coverage available in a range from $5,000.00 to the unusually high ceiling of $25,000.00.

Rates for the additional protection vary with the size of the group, age, salaries of group members, and the coverage selected. Hospital Service Association actuaries are prepared to furnish this information promptly to eligible groups.

The offering of this addition to its services follows closely on the heels of two other extensions of services offered through the Association in recent months, Bell pointed out: the "Merit Rating" system which, it is anticipated, will go a long way toward stabilization of Blue Cross dues; and Blue Shield's "Senior Citizen" program which provides non-group enrollment opportunity for Northeastern Pennsylvanians past the age of 65 who are ineligible to join through regular employee groups.

"These new 'tools' should go a long way toward filling some of the gaps hitherto existing in our services to Northeastern Pennsylvanians," Bell said. "And while these three programs mentioned are primarily concerned with enrollment and membership phases, it is important to offer the reminder that meanwhile, we are continuing to give close attention to other vital areas of operation such as the problem of possible over-use or mis-use of hospitalization."

'Nothing Ventured ...'

The old adage of "Nothing ventured, nothing gained" was never more true than in the competitive business world of today. If an area is to maintain its growth, or, for that matter, even retain its present status, it must be on the alert to protect it.

So many times, when industry is lost to an area for one reason or another, the people and their leaders moan and groan about the situation as being a severe loss to the local economy — but they do not attempt any offsetting measures to make up for it.

It is reassuring to read in today's news columns of an attempt to "do something about" just such a situation.

With the recent closing of a manufacturing plant in Stroudsburg, approximately 150 people were thrown out of employment, constituting a serious blow to the entire area since the personnel involved were from many sections of Monroe County.

Opinions Of Other Editors

Bringing Education To Heel

A distinguished and knowledgeable British educator has told teachers in Philadelphia that within a decade Red Russia may have "a better educated population under 40 than any other society."

And while this is intended as a warning, among those nurtured in the American outlook it invites a syllogism:

A part of being educated is to understand and love humanity. If the Russians are better educated, they will be more understanding; hence the world will be a better place.

The syllogism is no good.

It is fallacious because Dr. Charles P. Snow, the British authority, does not here use "educated" in the definition which automatically occurs to Americans. He uses it, in this instance, to mean "trained" — like one of Her Majesty's civil servants, or one of Pavlov's dogs.

According to his description, the Soviet education system in the first 12 years is the "most thorough and rigorous" now extant; while the American is the "most varied and most magnanimous."

Assume that he is right on both counts, since there is little evidence to

Following the meeting of an interested group of area businessmen and labor representatives, it has been announced that an attempt will be made to revitalize the defunct manufacturing plant under new ownership. The group plans to meet with state and federal authorities later this month to see what can be done along the line of financial assistance in doing the job.

At this point, we do not know what the outcome of the project will be. However, no matter the result, we heartily laud those who are interested enough to take the initiative and do something to offset a blow to the economy of the area.

It is only with constant vigilance of the industries we have and an honest attempt to replace any we may lose, that the economy of Monroe County will be able to be maintained at its present level, as well as to grow for the future.

The Pennsylvania Story

Head-Knocking On The Agenda

Harrisburg — A little old fashioned head-knocking apparently is on the agenda for a number of counties throughout the state.

Or at least this is the case insofar as Pennsylvania Democrats are concerned; with Keystone State elephant riders the story is a little different.

The results of the past November general election have pointed the way. For Democrats with a rising registration edge—more than 155,000 over their Republican counterparts as they went into the November fray—the resulting Democratic losses including the statewide judicial contest were somewhat demoralizing, to say the least, and have prompted a strong move to patch up weak spots at the polls.

The great concern of course is the gubernatorial runoff next year — and most Democratic leaders reluctantly concede that unless these weak spots are closed, Democrats in Pennsylvania are headed for serious trouble.

On the head-knocking front on the local level, the point of concern to donkey riders is that if they can't produce a "tight" organization at a time when they quite definitely are the so-called "party in power" their chances of success are constantly on the waver line.

It is during such power periods that organization on the local level normally can be expected to be built up; it is a time when local leadership posts do not go begging; a time if there ever was one when the strongest and most vibrant leadership possible is not only desired — but a "must."

This is why Pennsylvania Democratic leaders here in Harrisburg are determined at this time to make certain they have the strongest local leadership possible — and the reason for some head-knocking out in the field.

On the other hand, Republicans are not in such an "enhanced" position. As the definite underdog — no matter in what light you may look at it — head-knocking as such is a luxury they can ill afford.

The competition for local GOP leadership posts with little to offer other than "hopes and the future" is only lukewarm at best at the present time. Shoring up weak spots becomes a most difficult task at best for Keystone State GOPsters.

The attraction — such as that now available for in-power Democrats — just isn't there, and when you don't have the stuff, result-producing head-knocking is a most difficult and almost impossible chore.

For the GOP opposites, as leaders on Capitol Hill well know, their time is now or else.

For long years they weathered their nose — against — the plate-glass era — on the outside looking in — just as Keystone State Republicans are doing now. Donkey rider leaders here in the State Capital concede they haven't made the inroads they would like to have made and should have made.

They're concerned about it — and with a puckered eye toward next year — are determined to do something about it.

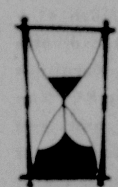

The important point many in the Democratic ranks fail to realize, in the opinion of top party leaders, is that while the party has been successful in managing at long last to "out-strength" or out-register their GOP arch-rivals for the first time in the history of the state — this accomplishment is by no means the final or confident answer.

To underscore this basic fact they point, again with furrowed brow, to their registration edge of November — and to the losses they sustained at the polls last month.

Additionally, seven years ago when a Democratic governor was whisked into office notwithstanding a near-million Republican registration edge, they know only too well that the very same thing — in reverse — could happen next year!

For donkey riders the rug is out — it's either get on or get off.

Off The Record

By Bob Clark

A unique idea is in effect in East Stroudsburg. The program, sponsored by the East Stroudsburg Football Mothers Association, is designed to interest new born baby boys in the grid fortunes of East Stroudsburg High School.

The novel plan revolves around a congratulatory message to the East Stroudsburg mother of a new baby boy born at Monroe County General Hospital.

In the message is an added touch, asking the mother to consider making her newest lad available for the Cavaliers football squad, say in about 15 years.

The idea is the brainwork of Jack Kist, veteran Eastburg grid chief, who it seems is always looking to the future.

The East Stroudsburg Football Mothers put into effect Kist's "Be a Cavalier Football Player in 15 Years" Program this past season under the presidency of Mrs. Peter Faris. The new president carrying the ball to the kiddies is Mrs. John Mosher. Betty Van Horn is the secretary of the group.

The promotion gimmick and good-will gesture is meeting with great interest among expectant East Stroudsburg and surrounding area mothers. Even the sure to be proud fathers are throwing out their chests in anticipation that it will be a boy, and will play football for that cagy coach, Jack Kist.

Speaking of boys, 1st Lieut. Robert Bessior, commanding officer of Company A, 1st Battle Group of East Stroudsburg, recently became a papa. You are right it is a boy.

This is the third boy in the Bessior family who live in Scranton.

Dick Merring, Stroud Union faculty member, declares that he hasn't seen as many people congregated in the streets of the Stroudsburgs since Pathfinder Days of the late forties.

"In that celebration it was natural to force your way through throngs of people. I just can't understand where all the folks come from."

"Certainly the population of Monroe can't all be in town at the same time."

"It must be the Christmas spirit that brings the folks out."

The Allen-Scott Report

By Robert S. Allen and Paul Scott

Washington—On the direct orders from the Kremlin, Fidel Castro is stepping up the export of Cuba's Communist revolution to other Latin American countries.

The first Red Dictator of the Americas has sent instructions to all Castro-Communist groups in South America to intensify the cold war with a series of violent "action" programs against the present governments.

These secret instructions, intercepted by a U.S. intelligence agency in Argentina, call for: Establishment of Communist guerrilla bases in the Andes mountain range running from Colombia to Chile;

Expulsion of the U.S. from all military and missile tracking bases throughout South and Central America, including the naval base at Guantanamo, Cuba;

Staging of organized demonstrations in Argentina, Brazil, and Venezuela for reduction of military forces and defense expenditures;

Organizing campaigns opposing President Kennedy's Alliance for Progress program and supporting programs expanding trade with the Sino-Soviet bloc including Cuba.

These instructions are based on a master Communist plan for taking over South America that two Soviet diplomats delivered to Castro on November 25, a copy of which has fallen into the hands of the U.S. government.

According to testimony given the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee by an anti-Castro undercover agent just back from Cuba, these Soviet diplomats carried the instructions from the Kremlin for Castro to make his Communist declaration. This Castro unmasking took place on December 2, or just a week after the diplomats arrived in Havana.

Castro's Challenge—These documents, which the State Department will turn over to the Organization of American States in January, reveal clearly that Castro feels he has Soviet backing to openly take the offensive in stirring up Communist revolts in the hemisphere.

For example, one set of instructions signed by Ramon Aja, head of the Cuban Department of Latin American Affairs, and sent to Communist groups in Argentina, Brazil, and Colombia, will begin air dropping Cuban trained guerrilla fighters and arms in specially designated areas in the mountain ranges of Colombia and Ecuador early next year.

The transports and supplies needed for this covert operation are now enroute to Cuba from the Soviet Union and its Eastern European Communist satellites. Also, Ernesto "Che" Guevara, the Communist's number one guerrilla warfare expert in the hemisphere, is in charge of this operation.

Other Communist operations are spelled out in a document signed by Dr. Carlos Olivares Sanchez, Castro's political undersecretary. It instructs Argentine Castro — Communist groups, "to win over the populace by an active and vigorous campaign of publicity and public acts along the lines that the future society depends upon the economic principles of Marx and Lenin."

This document calls for the use of "petitions, riots, and demonstrations for the expulsion of military bases and missile tracking stations of the U.S. from Argentina." The Argentine military services are to be discredited by "organized demonstrations calling for their reduction with the money savings being diverted for the construction of more housing and the improvement of the education of the people." Similar instructions were sent from Havana to Communist groups in Brazil and Venezuela.

Other secret instructions by Castro to Communist groups in "organized protests in all schools against military training" and for full support of "politics of expanding world markets without ideological discrimination."

Inside News Notes—According to information gathered by the Defense Intelligence Agency, one of the two Yugoslav freighters that picked up U.S. jet airplanes on the West Coast in November spent five days docked in Havana enroute to Yugoslavia. However, U.S. intelligence agents operating in Cuba were unable to determine whether any of the planes on the freighter TRBOVLE were unloaded, because Cuban authorities completely sealed off an area of three square blocks near the docks. The State Department has cabled the U.S. Embassy in Belgrade to have its Army military attaché inspect the ship's cargo when it docks in Yugoslavia. The freighter GUNDULEC after clearing the Panama Canal sailed directly to a Yugoslav port, according to U.S. Naval intelligence.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk is urging President Kennedy to replace Ambassador James Gavin because of his failure to get President Charles deGaulle, of France, to go along with a U.S. proposal for West-East negotiations over West Berlin. One of General Gavin's close friends in the Army reports that the U.S. Ambassador to France is so upset by some of Secretary Rusk's policies that he may resign with a blast. Should Gavin leave his Paris post, Henry Cabot Lodge, former U.S. Ambassador to the United Nations, is a good bet to replace him. Lodge has already assured the President that his services are available if he should need them.

Depot's Rescue Squad Is Being Reorganized

ITS RANKS depleted by the assignment to overseas duty of former highly trained members, the rescue squad of the U. S. Army Signal Corps depot, Tobyhanna, is being completely reorganized by 2nd Lt. Frederick Shinn, the post special services officer.

The roster of the 15-man team, which is filled on a volunteer basis, is not yet complete, nor have the men received the highly specialized training necessary to enable them to perform their duties. But, a team is available for call should an emergency arise.

As soon after the roster is completed as possible, the men will be given intensive Ranger schooling in such things as land navigation, map reading, first aid, survival under all conditions, and technique of long marches through rough country.

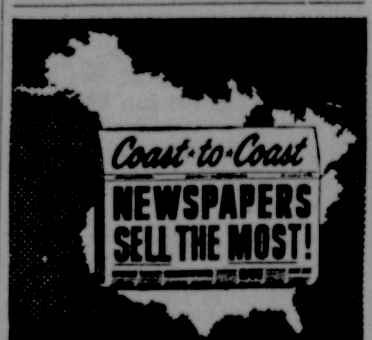

Among the most difficult, and important, of the squad's duties will be that of finding and rescuing hunters, hikers, and the like who become lost in the dense woods of the area. Twice last summer the former, squad was called upon to rescue children who had strayed into the wilderness, and each time accomplished the mission. Just recently, a makeshift squad saved a lost deer hunter after searching for six hours in total darkness.

"Wild goose chases" are sometimes part of the job, too. Last summer, for example, the squad spent several days searching for an elderly woman believed lost, only to discover that she had taken a bus ride, not a hike, and was safe and sound in New Jersey.

Police Provide Taxi Service

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP)—Police Commissioner Bernard J. Schmidt is abandoning this year his usual New Year's Eve taxi service for persons too intoxicated to drive.

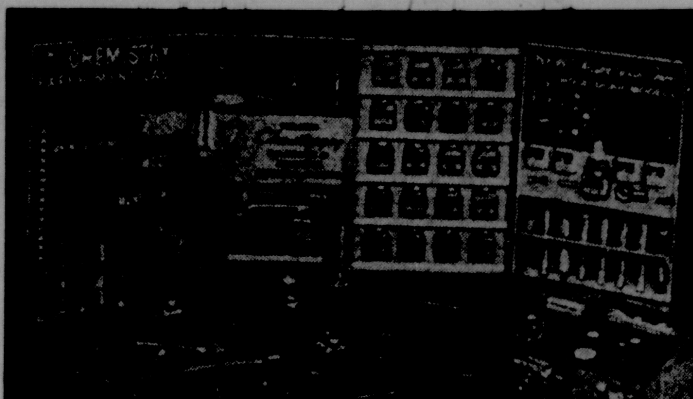

Police had provided the free service for the past four or five years. Schmidt said few persons have taken advantage of it and, besides, police cruisers can be put to better use.

The House Of The Week

Lanai Entrance Features Handsome Ranch

By Jules Loh
FRESH back from a trip to Hawaii and the Far East—where he filled a large note pad with home design ideas—architect Herman H. York presents this fine ranch with a "lanai" entrance as B-97 in the House of the Week series.

Lanai, explained the architect, is a Hawaiian word for what we probably would call a covered veranda.

"The Hawaiian knack of making visitors welcome is well known," said York, "and nothing helps perform this function better than a lanai—a lovely garden visible to pass through before entering the house. The first impression naturally is one of hospitality."

The entry, plus an unusual sunken garden on the rear terrace outside the basement recreation room, give this house the distinction you just don't find in most neighborhoods. In fact, the structure of the house itself is unusual—a slight variation of both the ranch and the newer bi-level design.

On the lower level is a completely planned recreation area and a spare room (for fourth bedroom) with bath. In addition there is a hobby room, which also could become a spare bedroom; and the whole layout suggests an ideal apartment for in-laws.

The main level features three nice sized bedrooms, a large bathroom with a double lavatory, a kitchen plenty big for a breakfast table, and an imposing living room—dining room expanse stretching across the front of the house.

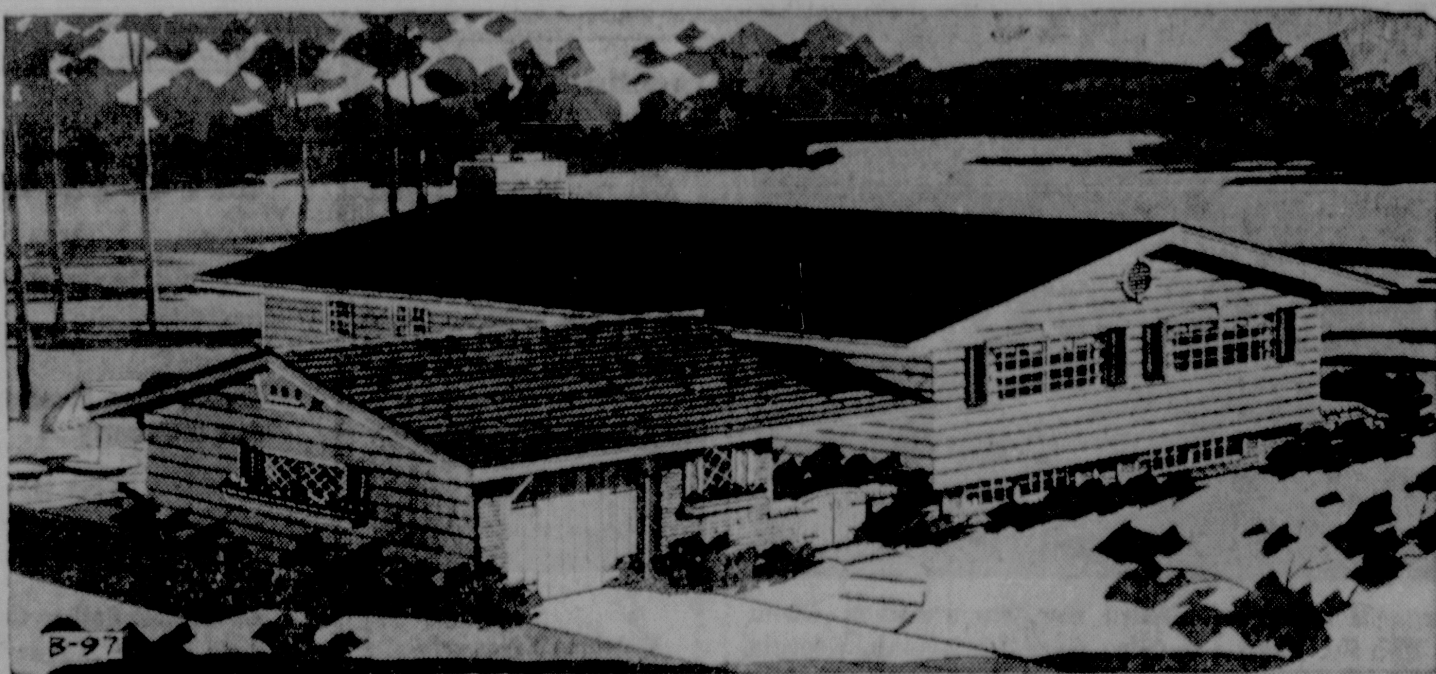

It's all contained in dimensions of 52 feet 10 inches wide by 45 feet deep. Should you want a two-car garage, the roof line could be extended to the left without throwing the design out of proportion.

"The mass of the bedroom wing stands on its own," said York, "and can readily take the additional length of the lower area."

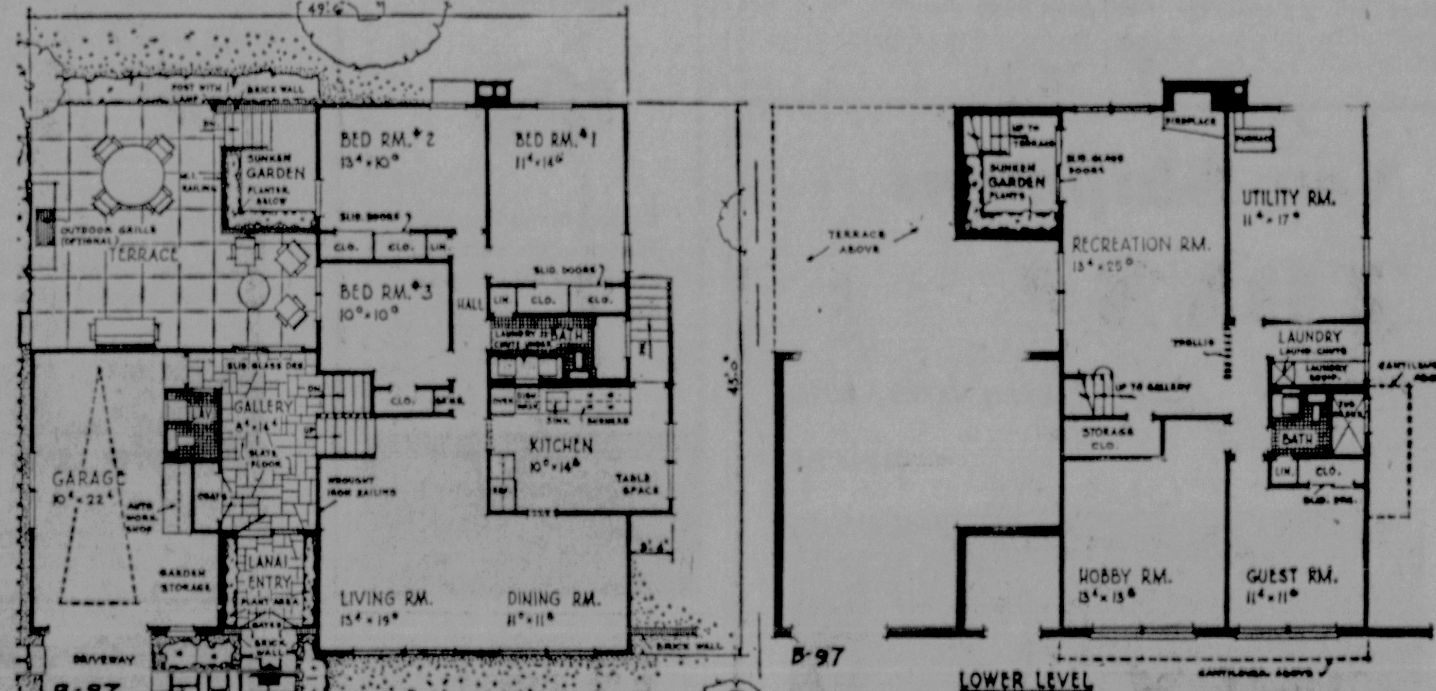

The upper level including the gallery occupies 1,338 square feet and the lower level contains 1,115 square feet. The garage and storage area add 313 square feet.

Additional Details
The entry of this house could be developed in a number of ways other than the flagstone surface with garden areas on each side shown in the plan.

York suggests as a possible alternate an Oriental design similar to one he has just installed at his

HAWAIIAN TOUCH — A lanai entry behind a garden gate gives an exotic flavor to this three bedroom ranch. The basement level contains a spare room, recreation room and hobby room. Total living area of both levels is 2,453 square feet in dimensions of 52 feet, 10 inches wide by 45 feet deep.

FLOOR PLANS: This house is a slight variation of both the ranch and bi-level design. The principal rooms are all on one level, ranch style, but the basement is raised somewhat to allow full windows and own Long Island home: marble chip as a bed for the side areas, with large stones arranged asymmetrically. "This eliminates the need for plants and the care they require," said York. "Done with a little imagination, it can be most attractive."

The sunken garden in the rear actually is a luxury feature which could be eliminated if the budget demands it. However, separated from the recreation room by sliding glass doors it would plainly add to this informal area.

A wrought iron railing at the corner of the living room next to the staircase provides a balcony overlooking the complete vista of the lanai, the gallery and the rear terrace.

Location of a lavatory in the gallery makes it perfectly accessible not only as a powder room for guests but also as a wash-up facility close to the rear terrace, the recreation room and the garage work bench. An over-sized coat closet in the gallery also is a practical feature.

The plumbing in this house is stacked to reduce cost. One important item which may escape quick notice is the laundry chute located under the vanity in the main bathroom. It drops dirty clothes directly into the laundry below.

Traffic circulates unobtrusively throughout this well-planned house. The living and dining rooms need never be crossed by anyone passing through. In fact it isn't necessary to pass through any room in the house in order to get to another room.

B-97 Statistics
A three-bedroom ranch with raised basement providing space for two additional rooms plus recreation room and hobby room. Upper level and gallery level contain one and one-half bathrooms.

Area includes 1,338 square feet on upper and gallery levels, 1,115 square feet on lower level, 313 square feet in garage and storage area. Dimensions are 52 feet 10 inches overall width and 45 feet overall depth.

Play Table Designed For Small Child

By Donald R. Brann
SINCE a child is small in size he frequently feels dwarfed by many pieces of furniture and some play toys. For this reason we designed the play table illustrated above to a size that stimulates a child's confidence.

The pattern offered below simplifies building by providing full size outlines for each part. All materials specified are readily available at lumber yards everywhere.

The table can be used for drawing in either horizontal or vertical position. The lower portion contains a book trough.

Since almost every child likes to draw, the blackboard top provides a perfect place to try his talents.

Send 50 cents in coin, check or money order for Child's Play Table Pattern No. 117 to The Daily Record, P.O. Box 215, Pleasantville, New York.

Send 35 cents additional for new catalog illustrating over 300 other build-it-yourself projects.

More Comfort With Zoning

WITH a hydronic heating system (circulating hot water) in your home, substantial fuel savings and family comfort can be effected by having the various living areas thermostatically zoned.

A heating contractor can easily install additional thermostats and hot water controls to permit differing temperatures for the living room, bedrooms, basement and garage, for instance.

The Plumbing - Heating - Cooling Information Bureau suggests investigating the savings and comfort that hydronic zoning offers.

Comfortable Warmth Is More Than A Warm House

THE most tastefully furnished home can be depressing and uncomfortable without a really efficient heating system that provides not only for a warm house, but a comfortable you.

And there can be a difference. For instance, while 75 degrees may be comfortable in the living room, you may not want it that warm in the bedrooms and recreation room.

And whereas some people settle for a heating system that only really warms the top tree-fourths of a room, it is certainly desirable to have a draft-free floor warm enough for the children to play on.

Hydronic panel heating provides for these comforts. The system consists of hot water circulated through pipe coils imbedded in plaster ceilings, walls or concrete floors. The effect is full-area heating by direct radiant rays, and indirectly by reflection of these rays.

Thus, normally difficult areas to heat, such as corners and the area in front of a large picture window, are kept as comfortable as the rest of the house. There can be no 'hot spots', no cold spots, no heating drafts and no dust stirred up.

As for varying temperatures in different living areas, no heating system adapts so simply and easily to 'zoning', with separate automatic thermostats, as hydronic heating.

All around savings result, form: 1-improved installation techniques; 2, one heating plant for house heating and all domestic hot water; and 3, less fuel used, with proper heat zoning.

Most important, advises the Plumbing - Heating - Cooling Information Bureau—plan for hydronic panel heating before building a new house or adding a room or garage to your present home. Talk with an experienced plumbing and heating contractor about the economical systems he can design and install.

Snow Time Is No Time For Breakdown

WHEN the snow is flying is no time for a breakdown of your old hot water heater. With winter coming on, it's a good idea to have a plumbing contractor check this essential facility.

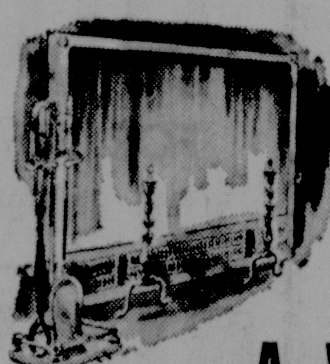

An undersized heater in particular, advises the Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Information Bureau, is subject to harmful corrosion and resulting leaks.

Clear The Gutters

AUTUMN leaves will soon be floating to the ground, but they will also be landing in your gutters where they can block the drain pipes. Often, the backed up water will be forced under the shingles and into the siding where it can damage both the wood and the paint that protects the wood. Unless you enjoy ladder climbing to clean out the leaves several times a season, why not cover the gutters with inexpensive guards that keep the leaves out?

E-L To Get Valuation Cutback

ERIE-Lackawanna Railroad will receive an annual reduction of nearly $8 million in its land tax assessments from Jersey City, N. J., for both 1962 and 1963 according to an agreement announced.

The assessment cuts will result in an annual tax saving of $772,634 for E-L.

Jersey City has also agreed to return $1.9 million paid by E-L and two other railroads in 1961 taxes, payment to be made over a four-year period.

A city official said railroads involved in the agreement have agreed, in return, to drop a court suit against the city in which they have overpaid Jersey City some $20 million in taxes since 1953.

The agreement is between the city and the Erie, Lackawanna, Jersey Central and Pennsylvania Railroads. Erie and Lackawanna merged last year to become E-L.

Total annual assessment reductions to the four carriers will be about $19 million. They affect only land and do not involve taxes paid to the city on buildings owned by the railroads.

LV Declines
Lehigh Valley Railroad reportedly declined to join in the agreement and will pursue its court suit against the city.

Jersey City officials said they feared a recent New York State Supreme Court ruling might have injured the city's position in the court litigation. The ruling held that where a city has no common tax ratio, the ratio applied to determine state school aid would be applicable to real estate assessments.

Jersey City's school aid ratio, 56.11 percent this year, would drop to 50 percent next year while railroad property was assessed at 100 percent of true value. The compromise agreement makes the railroad's rate about 65 percent.

Under terms of the agreement, which must still go before Jersey City Council and the New York State Division of Taxation for approval, the land assessment reductions and annual savings for the individual railroads, now merged, are:

Erie from $12,977,330 to $9,889,740; savings, $302,985.
Lackawanna from $16,933,200 to $12,147,209; savings, $469,649.

Pleads Guilty To Embezzling

BEAVER, Pa. (AP) — Two former officials of the Beaver County Welfare Department have pleaded guilty to embezzling $7,842 and are awaiting sentencing.

Harry H. Davis, former director of the department, and his assistant, Robert L. Caputo, had been charged by a grand jury on six counts each of embezzlement and conspiracy in connection with an alleged shortage of funds in the department.

They entered guilty pleas yesterday before the county district attorney.

Both remained free on $10,000 bond each.

No date has been set for sentencing.

False Teeth For Cheaper Mutton

NEWPORT, Isle of Wight (AP) —Gertrude, a 10-year-old sheep, nibbles fodder daintily—with false teeth.

They work so well that the animal is getting fat.

Gertrude is believed to be the world's first sheep with dentures. The veterinarian, who designed but cannot be named because of rules against advertising, thinks Gertrude's plastic teeth may make mutton cheaper.

Many sheep, he said, lose their teeth early, and are disposed of before they are fully grown.

Appliance Shipments

NEW YORK (AP)—Shipments of major appliances, such as electric ranges, dishwashers and vacuum cleaners, were higher in the first 10 months than in the same period one year ago, Fairchild Publication says. The trade magazine publisher said shipments lagged through September but moved ahead of the year before during October.

New Group To Present Findings

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges said yesterday the newly formed Business Ethics Advisory Council will present its first findings to President Kennedy on January 16.

Speaking before the Better Business Bureau of Pittsburgh, Hodges said the council would meet on that date at the White House.

The secretary pointed out that the growing complexity of modern business makes questions of business ethics increasingly difficult, particularly in what he called "grey areas," such as legitimate entertainment expense, tax problems and corporate relationship to social responsibility.

Paradise Center Sets Up Program

THE MONTHLY meeting of the Paradise Community Center was held recently at the former Paradise School. A film on "The Natural Gases in Your Community" was shown.

The dance committee reported the November dance was a success and it was voted to sponsor a dance each month. The Explorer Post 95 will make the arrangements for a dance in January.

The Community Center voted to sponsor the Cub Scouts and to act as co-sponsors for the Brownie Troop.

The Explorer Troop would like to have more boys from the ages 15 through 18 to join. Donald Widdoss and Thornton Counterman head the information committee.

Anyone going to Allentown on Saturday mornings, contact Ted Bolyn or Bill Nauman, or the Bottle Cap committee.

The Center is sponsoring a "Best Decorated Home Contest" in the township during Christmas week. Every private home is eligible. Any resident desiring their home to be viewed, are urged to contact George Curran, president at Mt. Pocono TE 9-7463.

Photographs will be taken of the winning home including second and third place runners-up.

The membership committee regrets if they have overlooked anyone in their membership drive. If you have not been contacted, please contact Mrs. David Nelson or Mrs. Mary Fontenella. The next meeting is Jan. 4, at 7:45 p.m. at the former Paradise School.

A CANTATA, "Christmas Bells" by Clifford McCormick, will be sung by the combined choirs of the Stroudsburg Methodist Church — on Christmas Eve, Dec. 24, at 7:30 p.m. This was postponed from last Sunday because of the bad weather.

The following young people will participate in the service: Toni Hellgren, Carol Kegley, Paul Albert, Patty Rutt, Sue Thurston and Phil Hansen.

Mrs. Harold Treible will direct the cantata. The soloists will be Jeanne Gurr, Robert Kranendonk, Shimer Kublic, Robert Wolbert, and Lorane Toner. The accompanists will be Jean Ann Wolbert at the console, Ann Serfass at the piano, and Linda Carlton at the glockenspiel.

Lebanon Bans Rock 'n' Roll

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Rock 'n' roll and the twist have been banned in Lebanon by Interior Minister Kamal Jumblat, a devout and powerful sheik of the Druze religion.

One newspaper protested the no-twist rule and carried a picture of an Arabic belly dancer on the front page, saying: "That's the sort of dance that should be banned."

Prince Philip Defends Youth

LONDON (AP)—The husband of Queen Elizabeth II defended the rock 'n' roll generation from criticism by his elders.

"There has been a tendency in recent years to pick on the younger generation for their dress, their social habits and their ways of enjoying themselves," Prince Philip told a luncheon meeting Tuesday.

"It seemed to me that it was about time that the other side of the coin got a showing—to recognize the hard work and application of great numbers of young people throughout the Commonwealth."

recent report issued by Pennsylvania Mental Health, Inc., which was received by the Monroe County Mental Health Assn.

The office of Mental Health in the Department of Public Welfare will have available this year, sufficient funds to add 500 persons to its staff. The average daily expenditure per patient will rise from about $4.30 to approximately $4.70. More help to community mental health services is included in the earmarking of 10 additional community projects at $25,000 each in state aid. The legislature also made it possible for the General State Authority to underwrite and complete additional capital improvements in state facilities.

An interstate compact was also passed last summer. It joins Pennsylvania with 22 other participating states. Patients in these states no longer will be denied hospitalization because of legal residence.

The state's education code was changed to include the emotionally handicapped child.

Another new law authorizes the Department of Public Welfare to train qualified employees in psychiatric nursing, nursing education, clinical psychology, occupational and physical therapy and social work.

Pennsylvania Mental Health is continuing its drive for an independent Department of Mental Health. This measure was defeated in the 1961 General Assembly.

Dear Abby

Take No Chances

Dear Abby: My problem is that I am being married in May and I am afraid if I have a big wedding my mother will spoil it. I am not exaggerating. She could start singing "Glory Hallelujah" right in the middle of the ceremony. She is not bad enough to be locked up. I mean she's not dangerous or anything, but you never know what she is going to do next. Do you think we should let her come to the wedding and take our chances, or should we arrange to have her "entertained" by someone while the wedding takes place, and then go to her for her blessing immediately following the ceremony?

GETTING MARRIED

Dear Getting: If your mother is not in an institution, but has her "moments," forego the big wedding and give her the pleasure of being present at a small, intimate ceremony. If she bursts into song, your family will "understand."

Dear Abby: I am single and am living in a place where single girls are not very available. There is a dance coming up shortly (mainly for the married couples living here) and I asked one of the fellows I work with if I could take his wife. The dance falls on my night off and he will have to work that night.

His wife is willing to go. I like to dance and all I have in mind is an enjoyable sociable evening.

Nfld Legion Aide Speaks At Parley

STERLING — Mrs. Robert Rochford, president of the auxiliary of Phillips-Zacharias-Phillips Post 859, American Legion, and immediate past director of the Wayne-Pike County Council, American Legion Auxiliary, spoke on Americanism at Red Lion, during the meeting of the four-county council including Adams, Franklin, Fulton and York Counties. Mrs. Rochford is serving this year as department Americanism chairman for the State A.L.A.

He said he'd go by your decision, SOCIABLE

Dear Sociable: A man does not "borrow" another man's wife as he might a lawnmower. Until you get your own girl, go solo or stay home.

Dear Abby: My husband's parents come to visit us once a year for three weeks. His mother is a regular old fuss-budget who complains constantly that smoke bothers her, so consequently I can't smoke in the same room with her, and certainly not in the same car. We live in the suburbs and must drive an hour to get to the city. I don't enjoy going for hours without a cigarette, so I told my husband in a nice way to entertain his folks and leave me home with the children. He wouldn't hear of it. How can I solve a problem that is becoming more irritating every year? I want to be a good wife and daughter-in-law.

ENJOYS A SMOKE

Dear Enjoys: Doing without a cigarette for a few hours is a small sacrifice for a woman who REALLY wants to be a good wife and daughter-in-law. Go with your husband when he entertains his parents, and lay off the weed or your marriage could go up in smoke.

Everybody's got a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, in care of this paper.

For Abby's booklet, "How To Have A Lovely Wedding," send 50 cents to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

The Holidays are Family Times

There is a growing feeling among thoughtful people everywhere that there should be a return to the "old-fashioned" concept of the holiday season—a time for closer family ties, the close circle of the family, with the simpler pleasures, and a re-awakening to the solemn significance of the season.

Keeping holiday celebration in its proper sense and perspective almost automatically means the exercise of moderation. The Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board earnestly urges upon every individual, every family, every business organization sensible, reasonable restraint throughout the holiday season.

Just Between Us—

By Bobby Westbrook

The "grab bag" of our too-long-ago school days seems to be passing. The present trend is to draw names and buy gifts for a particular person, very much in the manner of the "secret pal" deals of adult groups.

It used to be 25-cent gifts for exchange, then 50-cent gifts, and one boom year $2 gifts, for goodness sakes. Now $1 is about tops, which takes a bit of shopping but can be done. Although I know some sneaky individuals who just keep all their "exchange" gifts to put in the kitty for next year's rounds.

And once in a while somebody will get her own antimacassar back three years later. Which, perhaps, is one of the reasons why so many organizations have turned to the "gift for others" idea. The Junior Crusaders trimmed their tree with socks and mittens, the children of St. Matthew's brought gifts for orphans, one Scout troop hand-trimmed a tree for a needy family, the Stroud Fire Co. Aux. and Progressive Women brought gifts for the Salvation Army, to name only those in today's news.

Which, incidentally, will be the last I'll be writing until Christmas Day since my own "something for others" is to take three days of vacation to prepare for and welcome the invasion of young people which is the holidays' greatest gift to me.

There will be a niece and nephew from college whose parents are in Rome, with all their term papers, love affairs and career plans to catch up; there will be a daughter laden with all the gifts that first-graders lavish on their teacher; there will be their houseguests to keep them all on their best behavior and at their most helpful.

"Every bed in the house will be full," I think with the satisfaction of a mother hen who is never happier than when clucking to a whole brood; a satisfaction only tempered by the fact that Peter, away from home for his first Christmas, will be way out in Washington.

To him, to all my far-flung family, and to you, who for most of the year are my family, too, goes all my love. Be happy!

Postponed Party

The Christmas party planned by the Pocono Mountain Council of Republican Women for last night was cancelled because of bad road conditions, but will be held next Wednesday, Dec. 27 at 8 p. m. at the home of Miss Eloise Bryan, Swiftwater.

Stroud Fire Aux. Party Well Attended

A larger than usual attendance was noted when the Auxiliary to the Stroud Township Volunteer Fire Company held a combined business meeting and Christmas party at the Municipal Building, North Fifth St. Several members who had been on the inactive list were back again and two new members, Mrs. Martha Wille and Mrs. Annie Fabel, were welcomed.

Mrs. Clyde White presided at the business session. Plans were made to meet at the Municipal Building on Wednesday night, Jan. 10, at 8.

Instead of an exchange of gifts at the party, a donation was made to the Salvation Army Christmas Fund.

Sides of parades and other fire company activities, taken by the Rice and Smith families, were shown and narrated by Leroy B. Smith.

Refreshments were served, while Christmas music was heard in the background.

Christmas party committee members were Mrs. Robert Layton, Mrs. Lester Rice, Mrs. Katie Salowski, Miss Florence Bates and Miss Alice Keller.

Noble Grands Party

The Past Noble Grands Club of Rachel Brodhead Rebekah Lodge will meet Thursday night at the home of Daisy Kulp for their Christmas party. There will be an exchange of 50 cent gifts.

8 et 40 Thursday

The 8 et 40 of the American Legion Aux. will hold a Christmas supper party on Thursday night at 7 at the Legion Home. Members will bring a covered dish, their own table service and a $1 gift for exchange.

Texas Student Home

Carl Cyphers, a student at LeTourneau University, Texas, returned here on Dec. 15 to spend the holiday season with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Cyphers, of Ann St., Stroudsburg.

Nursing Career Spans War, Industry, Children

"Grammy" Smith is retiring on Dec. 31 but more than a decade of children who had their tonsils or appendix out, broke a leg or otherwise ended up in the Children's Ward of the General Hospital will remember her.

Mrs. Cyrus Smith, R. N., has been a charge nurse in the children's ward for the past 10 1/2 years, Grammy to patients and doctors alike.

One source of great satisfaction to her this year has been the fact that three generations have been in uniform at the hospital at the same time. Mrs. Smith's daughter, Eileen Davis, is a nurse's aide on staff duty, and her granddaughter, Eva Sarley, is a nurse attendant, now a senior at East Stroudsburg High School.

Mrs. Smith's nursing career has spanned many fields of service since she was a student nurse at Berwick Hospital Training School in 1914. She took post graduate work at Presbyterian Hospital, Philadelphia, and served as a nurse in World War I.

It was this experience which after the war led her to become a staff nurse in a private hospital in London, England.

She also was an industrial nurse in the American Car and Foundry Co. in Berwick, and has done private duty nursing in Berwick, New York and Boston.

During all this time, Mrs. Smith has never lost any time because of illness except for five days when she had mumps, contracted from a patient. During her first year of nursing, she recalls, she fell down the cellar steps, broke her arm, but continued working with the arm in a sling for six weeks.

"I'm not bragging," she said, "just thankful that God has given me health and the opportunity to nurse others, many of them much younger than I."

As for her immediate plans after retiring, she will take her mother, now 85, to Florida for the rest of the winter. She will miss her "babies" at the

Children Bring Gifts For Orphans

They came bearing gifts—250 children from St. Matthew's Parochial School attended the Christmas party in the school auditorium on Saturday afternoon from 2 to 4 sponsored by the Parents Assn. of the school.

Each brought a gift for a child in Our Lady of Fatima Orphanage in Elmhurst.

The sixth grade choir under the direction of Sister M. St. Cornelius sang; pupils of Shirley Briganti's Dance School presented Christmas routines, and Christmas cartoons were shown by Joseph DeRenzi.

Santa Claus distributed candy to all the children and refreshments were served.

Mrs. Anthony P. Archer was chairman of arrangements assisted by the committee: Mrs. Martin Learney, Mrs. Jay Martin, Mrs. Giovanni Dalessio, Mrs. Francis Manhaupt, Mrs. Millie Wydra, Mrs. Michael Chopek, Mrs. Joseph Shukaitis and Thomas Rosso.

No Board Meeting

There will be no meeting of the executive board of the American Legion Aux. on Thursday night.

Children's Aid Offices Busy With Family Reunions

The Christmas visits of wards of the Children's Aid Society with their own parents have been brightened by the decorations at the CAS offices and by a well-filled cookie jar, the work of the house committee of which Mrs. John B. Kingsley is chairman.

Mrs. William Wells, president, reported on these activities at the meeting of the board of directors at the Penn-Stroud Hotel yesterday afternoon. Also acknowledged was the gift of Christmas money to each ward of the CAS by the Junior Woman's Club.

Carl Secor was welcomed to his first board meeting since his election as a director. Mrs. Charles Bensinger reported the resignation of Dr. LeRoy J. Koehler as an active member of the board because of college staff meetings on board meeting days.

The board unanimously voted to make Dr. Koehler an honorary director and paid tribute to his years of service both as treasurer and chairman of the finance committee for many years.

An air conditioner for the children's playground at the headquarters was the gift of Dr. Mary Hunsicker. It was announced.

The proposed budget for next year, to be submitted to the Monroe County Commissioners on Thursday, was explained by Edwin Krawitz and approved by the board. A letter from the Community Chest president, Maxwell Cohen, regarding the appeal for establishing family service, was circulated.

In his statistical report, Charles Jones, executive secretary, announced that 7 children had been accepted into care during the month, making a total of 119 children. Of these 52 are in 34 foster boarding homes; one in a free foster home; 2 in adoption homes, 7 in institutions; 46 in their own homes under protective care, 2 for pre-placement, 3 who have been returned to their own homes under supervision, one pre-adoption and 1 in family counseling.

Jones also reported on a meeting with agency directors of the Children's Aid Society of Pennsylvania to discuss the effects of recent legislation eliminating state aid to private agencies. A further study of its local effects will be made by the executive committee.

Directors present for the meeting included Mrs. Wells, Mrs. Bensinger, Krawitz, Detleff Hansen, Miss Elizabeth Martin, Carl Secor, Mrs. T. F. Rhodes, Raymond Serfass, Mrs. J. F. Harris, Mrs. Donald Gilpin, Mrs. Robert Weichel, Rev. Joseph Carr Jr., Francis Drake, Mrs. Horace Westbrook, Mrs. Horace Butler, Mrs. R. Frederick Jones, Mrs. F. L. Patterson.

Progressive Women Add To SA Gifts

Stroudsburg — Capt. H. G. Baker of the Salvation Army, Stroudsburg, told members of the Progressive Women's Club of Stroudsburg that the Salvation Army would take care of about 225 families in the county at Christmas time.

The club brought gifts for Capt. Baker to distribute to needy children.

He began his talk with the first chapter of Matthew, stressing the real meaning of Christmas as the birthday of Christ whose spirit should be carried on every day of the year.

Mrs. Newton Davenport presided at the meeting which was opened with devotions by Mrs. Grace Singer, chaplain. A moment of silent prayer was held for Mrs. Harley Bond. It was announced that Miss Anna Schoch is a patient in the General Hospital, East Stroudsburg.

Mrs. Elva Knowles, chairman of public affairs, reported on findings on free toll telephone calls.

The club voted to donate $10 to the Monroe County Tuberculosis Society.

Betty Fisher, program chairman, introduced a girls' chorus from the Pen Argyl Area High School who sang Christmas selections. There was a piano solo by Miss LaBar.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Lydia Howerter, chairman, and her committee.

Birds do not usually begin incubating their eggs until the full complement has been laid. Otherwise the resulting young would be of different ages and sizes, and the larger ones would get all the food.

Girl Scouts Make Trimmings For Gift Tree

Into their Christmas gift for others, the Intermediate Girl Scouts of Troop 355 have put a lot of themselves: imagination, time and effort.

For several weeks members of the troop have been making Christmas tree decorations: wrapping styrofoam balls in cotton or bedecking them with tinsel and sequins, cutting and decorating rings cut from toilet paper rolls, using aluminum potato boats for shadow pictures.

Yesterday the girls decorated a tree with their handiwork, sang carols around it and had their own Christmas party, after which they presented it to Capt. H. E. Baker of the Salvation Army who will deliver it to a family who otherwise might have no tree at all. Mrs. Thomas Garland and would Christmas be without a fruitcake bursting with candied fruits and nut meats? Or a pudding so steamy rivulets of hard sauce cascade down it sides? ALL THESE ARE available at WICK'S MILLERS, 736 Main St., Stroudsburg.

How do you like the pretty Della Robbia garland at the top of our Wyckoff Shopper column? It ties in very neatly with our Twelve Days of Christmas theme, wouldn't you say?—and we thank Marlene Andrews for drawing it. But, if you think THAT dresses up the column, just wait until you see my Christmas card to you in Saturday's newspaper! Marlene has illustrated it, and now all we need do is sit back and hope the engravings arrive in time.

Right this minute our store is pleased, because it too receives Christmas presents now and then. Its gifts aren't usually wrapped in Tie Tie papers and ribbons... they more frequently arrive in the form of letters, and are invariably addressed in care of someone else. This one came to me...

December 13, 1961

Dear Mrs. Maloney,

I sincerely hope that I am not taking too much liberty, or taking up your most valuable time in writing to you. We are not acquainted with you personally, although I did have the pleasure of meeting you thru the courtesy of the "Welcome Wagon" when first moving to Stroudsburg from New Jersey. We also read your column in the Daily Record and it is most informative and interesting.

We were life-long residents of N.J. all of our lives until three years ago when, thru a transfer in business from my husband's New York office, we purchased a home here. Coming as total strangers, we felt rather like "two lost sheep" and it took some time to become used to shopping and getting acquainted with the shopping area and stores. We were so used to shopping in the large department stores in New York and New Jersey, in fact the entire Metropolitan area.

However, from our first purchase in your friendly Wyckoff store, we felt satisfaction and friendliness throughout each and every department. We would like to express our appreciation for the courteous help we received. Nowhere, in our years of experience in shopping, have we found the attentive, helpful sales personnel that your Wyckoff-Scars store has, whether it be a small purchase or one of more monetary value. You cannot imagine what that means to strangers coming to your town.

Through your column in the daily paper, which will often contain interesting letters from different people, I thought I might write to you, and perhaps you would be kind enough to pass the word along to the members of the Wyckoff family, heads of departments, etc. how we feel about your store.

I can assure you, it is a great source of satisfaction to have such a place to shop, and in a leisurely way, unlike the rush, confusion and, at times, careless service one receives in the larger cities.

I might add that Mr. Graybill and I love your town, our new home, the beautiful countryside, and best of all, the friendliness of all the folks we meet. We are only regretful this move could not have been made many years ago for us to enjoy.

To you, and all the members of the Wyckoff staff, congratulations for a fine store, and sincere wishes for a most happy and prosperous year ahead. Thanking you and "Your Wyckoff Family," I am

Very Sincerely,
Mrs. S. Hoyt Graybill
1911 Wallace Street

We thank YOU, Mrs. Graybill, for your realization that all of us are trying to give you the kind of store in which you will enjoy visiting... looking... and buying. We may fall short sometimes, but by and large we all, I think, deserve an A for effort. However, it's very easy to be at our best with people like yourself who are so appreciative. Welcome to our county, and to our store. Come in often, and say "hello!" Merry Christmas from us all.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer)—Some disappointing indications. Maintain enlivened interest in improving position, pace of progress. Nothing ventured, nothing gained holds. Be not averse to change.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo)—Ruling planet Sun's rays akin to those of Scorpio's, and aid of new irritations that interfere with normal momentum and expansion. Shun obstinacy, but serve no useful purpose.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo)—Steadily victorious influence to encourage. Snare time—wasters away from your program. Anchor efforts to a plan with stable basis, anticipated and likely gain. Be selective.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—It is only temporarily easier to put off change. Difficulty arises when additional ones appear. Day needs your initiative, striving in earnest. Begin the offensive for good.

Doctors Needed In Civic Affairs

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Governor Lawrence told a class of medical students at the University of Pittsburgh yesterday that it is vitally important for physicians to take an active civic role in their communities.

The governor said public spiritedness at all levels is needed if redevelopment of the state's cities is to succeed.

Pittsburgh's redevelopment program, he said, showed what can be done when persons from all walks of life contribute their time and energies.

"The same basic principle holds true for every other community in Pennsylvania," the governor added.

A BIT SHORT — Bobby Ross of Shippensburg tries to lay in a basket, but East Stroudsburg's Will Peifley provides a good block. The action came last night at Normal Hill as the Warriors dropped the visitors 84-77 for opening win in state college conference.

ESSC Sinks Shippensburg 84-77

Warriors Grab Opening Game In Conference Play

EAST Stroudsburg State College, rebounding from a first half deficit, pounded out an 84-77 victory over Shippensburg State College in a hard-fought battle last night at Normal Hill.

The Warriors, down five points at the intermission, sparked like and entirely different team as second half play resumed.

With the score tie 61-61 with ten minutes remaining, the Warriors started a fast break and a presiding referee to break the game loose.

It was the first game for ESSC in Pennsylvania State College Conference.

The win gave ESSC a 1-0 record in Pennsylvania State College Conference. Shippensburg is 0-2 after losing to West Chester last week.

Fiercy Brand
Coach Mort Hochheiser's five, played a new brand of ball in the last two quarters to gain the win. The visitors were pressed on all corners and, combined with a fast break of the Warriors, gradually lost the advantage.

Russ Hopewell, who seemed to be the target of the Shippers most of the night, did collect 27 points despite the harassment. The visitors on several occasions dropped the ESSC star to the court. However, only minor scuffles developed in the tight game.

Hopewell was ably assisted by Jack Jones and Will Peifley, two ESSC juniors, who took control under the boards while posting 13 and 15 points respectively.

Basket Control
Hopewell, who played good under the baskets in the first half but much better in the second, registered 11 points in the opening frames.

Hochheiser employed the pressing maneuver to good advantage as the squeeze caused the Shippers to lose the ball constantly on wild throws.

The visitors collected only 29 points in latter quarters with only Jim Haines playing a steady brand of ball. Haines mustered 17 points on eight field goals and one foul.

The press also affected Bobby Ross as the tall senior grossed 12 points — all were made in first half.

The East Stroudsburg five will resume play on Jan. 6 as they meet Mansfield State at the local campus. Mansfield has been pegged as one of the great teams in the conference.

NEW YORK (AP)—Allie Sherman, named coach-of-the-year in the National Football League by a committee of writers and sportscasters from the 14 league cities, said Tuesday his New York Giant players deserved the credit.

The Giants resume work Wednesday for their Dec. 31 league championship game at Green Bay. New York clinched the Eastern Conference title Sunday in a 7-7 tie with Cleveland.

Billy Lewis, Joe Heverin Elected ESSC Co-Captains

QUARTERBACK Billy Lewis and fullback Joe Heverin have been elected co-captains for the 1962 East Stroudsburg State College football team, coach Jack Gregory announced yesterday.

The veteran players were elected by members of the grid squad yesterday after a campus meeting.

Heverin, a senior from Wilmington, Del., will begin his third year as a starter for the Warriors.

Blocking Fullback

The 6'-2"-pound back was one of Gregory's mainstays as the Warriors rolled to a 7 and 1 record last year. He is considered one of the outstanding blocking fullbacks in the Pennsylvania State College Conference.

Lewis, who hails from Bristol, Pa., is a triple-threat back. The 5' 10", 170-pounder from Delhaas High School, was second to the team's top scorer Toby Barkman during the past campaign.

More new cars were sold this November than in any other November in automotive history. Industry sales are booming at a record rate.

Before you buy any new car, check your dependable Dodge Dealer. Check the new size Dodge Dart, actually priced up to $71 less than last year's comparable model.

COMPARE DART'S NEW LOW PRICE

Comparisons, below, are based on manufacturers' suggested retail price of six cylinder 2-door sedans. Only white-wall tires, wheel covers, other optional equipment, state and local taxes (if any) and destination charge extra.

FORD FAIRLANE	$2079
MERCURY METEOR	$2203
THE NEW SIZE DODGE DART	$2241
CHEVY BISCAYNE	$2324

Stricter Rules Sought As Grid Deaths Set New Mark

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — A campaign for stricter enforcement of football playing rules will be waged by the National Federation of State High School Athletic Associations, which reported Tuesday at prep grid deaths for the 1961 season, highest in record.

These fatalities attributed directly to football were the greatest since the organization—representing 20,000 high schools in all states except Texas—began keeping records in 1931.

There were seven other — indirect — fatalities. These included football players stricken by heart seizures in warm-up routines, or who died from various infections or diseases.

The 15 direct deaths occurred among 720,000 boys who participated in the sport, the federation said, which was a ratio of 2.08 for every 100,000.

No Evidence

Nine fatalities occurred during games and six in practices. Most of them came from tackling, blocking, being piled on or heat prostration. In five cases there was no evidence of any specific contact leading to the fatal injury.

In the last 16 seasons, there have been 155 fatalities. Previous highs of 14 were recorded in 1935, 1946 and 1957. Last year there were 7. There were 8 in 1949.

The federation estimates that the number of prep players has nearly doubled since 1946.

"There is no evidence at all that equipment and rule changes had anything to do with the fatalities this season," Clifford B. Fagan, executive secretary of the federation, told The Associated Press.

"The prime reason behind many of the rule changes in the past has been to improve the safety factor, and we will entertain any more that will help. We also are thinking of all-soft — or shock absorbent—equipment."

"One of the deaths resulted from piling on. The federation is going to campaign for stricter enforcement of regulations governing such things as piling on and tackling out of bounds. We also want to see a reduction in the use of forearms on defense."

Interpreting India On Nine-Day Wonder

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst

India's resort to force to enforce territorial demands against Portugal now promises to be a nine days' wonder insofar as Goa is concerned, but with a hangover of long-range impact on world relations.

It has long been a foregone conclusion that Goa would go the way of all overseas possessions of the European colonial powers. The manner of the going is surprising, but only to those who have believed or hoped that Prime Minister Nehru was sincere in his advocacy of world settlements through peaceful negotiations.

The immediate fighting is about over, both at the front and in the United Nations. The United States and Portugal have been beset in the Security Council, and there is no point in carrying the case to the overwhelmingly anticolonialists of the General Assembly membership. Recriminations will continue to fly without practical effect on the case in point.

Practical Effects
Some very practical effects can be expected, however, on world attitudes.

If there was any real allegiance among the so-called neutralists to the cause of peaceful solutions and real neutrality, you might have expected India to lose a large part of her voice in their affairs.

Instead, her voice has been strengthened in a majority decision of U.N. opinion which reveals itself as more opposed to the remnants of Western colonialism—though not to the new type of Communist colonialism—than to use of force.

This seriously complicates the United States effort to stand as a moderating force between Europe and the African-Asian group. It serves notice on President Sukarno of Indonesia that his mobilization against West Guinea—and the use of force there if he desires—will have the support of India and the whole so-called neutralist bloc which holds the balance of power in the General Assembly, as well as of the Soviet bloc.

In a nasty sort of way, India's action precipitates a new situation with regard to Western attitudes. The United States and the West have often been handicapped by the feeling that they were required to listen politely to the psalm-singing of Nehru and the neutralist cohorts.

Now these very cohorts have buried the question of moral principle in favor of opportunist use of force. The West may feel it can pursue its course with greater freedom of self-interest which once again is proved to be the rule by which most nations live.

91 Acres Seen Having Air Pollution Problems

HARRISBURG (AP)—Some 91 Pennsylvania communities have a major air pollution problem, a federal-state survey indicated Tuesday.

The pollution causes property damages estimated at $750 million a year, the survey noted. The U. S. Public Health Service and the state Health Department made the study. The damage estimate was based on laundry and cleaning bills, on painting and on damage to merchandise and buildings.

Market Decline Deepens

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market decline deepened Tuesday as more profits were taken on some of the blue chip leaders of 1961.

Volume shrank to 3.44 million shares from 3.81 million Monday and was the lowest since Nov. 1 when 3.21 million shares changed hands.

The drop in volume took some emphasis away from the price decline. But the fact remained that on average the market, in the past several weeks of "consolidation," has erased all the gains it made since Nov. 3.

Based on the fall Tuesday in The Associated Press average, an estimated $2.3 billion was erased from the quoted value of stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange.

The establishing of profits for 1961 tax purposes was one factor in the day's setback analysts said.

The AP 60-stock average was down 1.60 to 261.80 with industrials off 1.80, rails off 1.00 and utilities off 1.10.

The Dow Jones industrial average fell 5.30 to 722.41.

Of 1,313 issues traded, 359 advanced and 720 declined. New highs for the year totaled 13 and new lows 21.

Of the 15 most active stocks there was a 5-to-6 split of gainers and losers.

Prices also declined on the American Stock Exchange. Volume was 1.63 million shares compared with 2.07 million Monday.

Corporate bonds were irregularly lower. U. S. government bonds value from $7.35 million Monday. Volume fell to $6.65 million par advanced.

Ex-Petty Officers May Be Eligible

BECAUSE of the increasing demand for qualified personnel in certain specialties, the Navy Department has announced that some former petty officers, discharged from the regular Navy within the last four years, are now eligible to reenlist in the same rate and grade held at the time of discharge.

Senior Chief Buhay, in charge of Naval Recruiting, Post office Building, Easton, stated that, formerly, only men reenlisting within three months of discharge could be assured of remaining in the same status that they held prior to their discharge.

"While this three months policy is still in effect," Senior Chief Buhay said, "the Navy has now broadened the scope of reenlistments to include a wide variety of specialties in which men can reenlist without reduction in grade or loss of pay up to four years from discharge."

problem the survey reported. The study covered 83 per cent of the state's population and virtually all of the urban population most affected by air pollution.

The survey was designed to provide guide lines for future control of air pollution problems, which would be worked out in Pennsylvania by the state's new Air Pollution Commission.

Outside Source
In the opinion of local officials contacted in the survey, more than half of the communities studied considered their air pollution problem as stemming from a source outside the community.

The major pollution in 46 communities was sulfur dioxide—a by-product of coal burning. The two health agencies said it is injurious to human air passages and lungs, including inflammation of the surfaces of the respiratory tract.

Forty-seven of the communities surveyed had smoke or flash as a major pollutant. The agencies said those products cause economic losses through corrosion and soiling of buildings.

The surveys were made over a period from 1949 through 1959. Some surveys of Pittsburgh were made as far back as 1927 and reviewed through 1958.

Concentrations of sulfur dioxide are greater than U. S. average concentrations in Alliquipp, Ambridge, Baden, Beaver Falls, Midland, Monaca, Washington and York.

Suspended particle concentrations were greater than the U. S. average in Ambridge, Avalon, Chester, Harrisburg, Johnstown, Lebanon, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Scranton and Williamsport.

The survey indicated that in 11 problem communities 44 per cent of the pollutants came from transportation, 39 per cent from industry and 17 per cent from domestic sources.

Use of automotive fuel is increasing about 5 per cent per year.

Soviets Warn Of Testing Superbombs

NEW YORK (AP)—Soviet Ambassador Mikhail A. Menshikov warned yesterday that the Soviet Union might test "superbombs" if the United States underground tests and standbys for atmospheric blasts are not scrapped immediately.

The Soviet ambassador told a television audience that it was "quite possible" the superbomb explosion would be a 100-megaton bomb.

"You people want to continue to explode and you are actually continuing those tests underground and preparing to make the tests in the atmosphere," Menshikov said, adding: "If these tests are not stopped at once, then of course we will start our tests again, and not only ordinary bombs, but perhaps superbombs also."

The Soviet ambassador, appearing on the taped television program "Open End" with David Susskind for showing at 9 p.m. Sunday night, was asked if the Soviet Union would detonate a 100-megaton bomb.

He replied: "Quite possible." The United States currently is conducting a series of underground nuclear blasts.

"The Soviet Union is conducting a series of underground nuclear blasts," Menshikov said, adding: "If these tests are not stopped at once, then of course we will start our tests again, and not only ordinary bombs, but perhaps superbombs also."

Authority Reaffirms Policy

HARRISBURG (AP)—The General State Authority Board reaffirmed Tuesday its policy against installation of anything but coal-fired heating plants at GSA-built projects.

The policy question came up at AGSA meeting when Executive Director John E. Lynam said that his predecessor, A. J. Caruso, Harrisburg Republican, had authorized installation of oil-fired heating plants at some GSA projects.

"Apparently the former director went ahead with this on his own despite our policy," Gov. Lawrence, board chairman, said. He emphasized that in the future the board must be consulted on any proposed deviations from policy.

One of the projects involved was installation of oil heat in a small building at Pennsylvania State University. The GSA staff said that the installation was made at the request of the university as "being most economical."

"Well, we can't do much about this now, it's already in up there," said House Majority Leader Stephen McCann, D-Greene. "But I think we ought to make sure it doesn't happen again."

As a result of the discussion, the board referred back for further study two proposed projects at Presque Isle State Park, Erie County. Both called for oil heating in an administration building and in the park marina.

The board also tabled a proposal to use a gas-fired boiler for heating a small greenhouse at the historical site Old Economy, Ambridge, Beaver County.

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A judge ordered Tuesday the continuance of a temporary injunction halting prosecution of Pittsburgh district supermarkets under a new state Blue Law.

The order was handed down by Judge Clarence B. Nixon of Allegheny County Common Pleas Court in a dispute over Sunday food sales.

Four supermarket officials had been accused of violating the law which prohibits Sunday food sales in stores employing 10 or more workers.

The officials sought the injunction on the grounds that the law is unconstitutional, vague and incomprehensible.

Extension
Judge Nixon's action extends an order issued last week by Judge Sara M. Soffel, also of Common Pleas Court.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Martin Lubow of Allegheny County, appearing in behalf of Dist. Atty. Edward C. Boyle, said in court today:

"The district attorney recognizes that there is serious doubt as to the constitutionality of the act (Blue Law) and agrees it would be futile to have a multiplicity of prosecutions while the issue is unresolved."

The four supermarket officials are Victor Pasula and Addison Bowers of Payday's Supermarket in Forward Twp. and Merrill Hall and Frederick Verscharen, managers of Verscharen stores in Brentwood and Bethel Park.

No date was given for further court action.

Another case involving the law is pending in Butler County where officials of Freidman Supermarkets have appealed a conviction.

Gold Flow Blamed

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The outflow of gold and other monetary developments are getting some of the blame for a stock market performance that has been disappointing to brokers.

While the Dow Jones industrial average edged up to another all-time high last week, the market hasn't been able to move out of a narrow trading range for seven weeks.

Walter Mintz of the brokerage firm, Shearson, Hammill & Co. points out that since Nov. 10 the range of the industrials has been only 15 points, or about 2 per cent.

He considers this an unusually narrow spread considering the period of time involved and says some experts are disturbed because of the market's inability to make much progress despite the relatively high trading volume.

"Unquestionably," he comments, "one of the factors that has dampened enthusiasm recently has been the continuing outflow of gold from the United States. In the past four months alone the United States has lost $677 million, representing a 4 per cent decline in this country's gold stock."

Motivated By Hope
Mintz points out that the recent decision by the monetary authorities to allow commercial banks to increase interest payments on savings accounts was at least partly motivated by the hope that foreign funds would be attracted to the United States by the higher interest rates.

With the U.S. economy strong and a moderate slowdown in European industrial activity apparent, the U.S. balance of trade is likely to deteriorate, putting additional pressure on the U.S. gold supply, he believes.

"Thus, he adds, "it seems probable that the Federal Reserve will be forced to tighten credit before long."

"As of a week ago, the average yield on the 425 stocks included in the Standard & Poor's industrial index was only 2.77 per cent, compared with a 4.3 per cent average yield on AA-rated industrial bonds."

"If the spread between bond and stock yields widens further as a result of a change in Federal Reserve policy, many pension funds and other institutions may be tempted to shift some of their investment from stocks to bonds."
